Fund manager's commentary

Global equities rose 0.40% in sterling, buoyed by US stocks, up 1.85%. US technology stocks were particularly strong, rising 12.18% in sterling as Nvidia, a supplier of intelligence hardware and software, announced better-than-expected results. Polar Capital Global Technology was the EF Brompton Global Equity Fund's strongest performer, rising 13.76%, but the other global investment, the iShares Gold Producers exchange-traded fund (ETF), fell 7.10%. The Federal Reserve increased its official interest rate by a quarter percentage point to 5-5.25% and implied this might be its last increase in the short term. Growth stocks benefited, rising 3.47% in sterling while value stocks fell 2.83%. UK stocks fell 5.00% but the portfolio's three UK holdings outperformed, with Chelverton UK Equity Growth most resilient, down 1.68%. In Europe excluding the UK, where stocks fell 4.08% in sterling, Martin Currie European Unconstrained bucked the negative trend, rising 1.11%, but Lightman European, a value-oriented holding, fell 6.71%. Japanese stocks gained 2.41% in sterling but both portfolio holdings lagged, with Lindsell Train Japanese Equity weakest, down 6.52%. Equities in Asia excluding Japan and emerging markets fell 0.43% and 0.26% respectively in sterling, dragged lower by Chinese stocks, down 7.12% on fears the stimulus from the end of zero-Covid-19 policies would prove short-lived. Within the portfolio, Vietnam Enterprise Investments and Redwheel Global Emerging Markets outperformed, rising 3.57% and 0.18% respectively, but Baillie Gifford Pacific lagged, falling 4.99%. Stewart Investors Indian Subcontinent was added. The EF Brompton Global Equity Fund rose 1.14%† in May while the sector gained 0.40%.

Investment policy

The Fund will typically invest a minimum of 80% of its net asset value in collective investment schemes, exchange traded funds and unregulated collective investment schemes. The Fund may also invest in investment trusts (and similar instruments), other transferable securities, money-market instruments, fixed income instruments, deposits and foreign exchange contracts.

Investments will not be confined by industrial, economic or geographical sector. The Fund may hold, on a temporary basis, all or part of its assets in cash or other ancillary liquid assets.

The Fund may utilise derivatives for the purposes of efficient portfolio management (typically hedging, including investing in hedged share classes, which attempts to mitigate against falls in the value of the Fund's assets and the effects of changes in currency exchange rates against the Fund's base currency, which is pounds sterling).

The Fund's benchmark is IA Global. This represents a comparator benchmark because the Fund's performance can be compared to funds which also sit within this industry sector.
