Fund manager's commentary

Global equity markets recovered 4.21% in sterling terms in March as the Federal Reserve committed to move "cautiously" on interest rates in response to the elevated international risks to the US economy. The dollar fell 3.04% against sterling despite Brexit fears weighing on the pound. Falling US oil output contributed to a 5.28% oil price recovery in sterling. Evidence that the twin headwinds dogging emerging markets – dollar strength and weak commodity prices – had abated led to a sharp rally in Asia ex-Japan and emerging market equities, up 7.86% and 9.81% respectively in sterling. The WAY Global Cautious Portfolio's emerging market equity allocation rose in early 2016 to end the first quarter at 6.14%. Active fund managers generally struggled to keep pace in response to the reversal in market trends. Thus, Schroder SmallCap Discovery underperformed, rising 2.74%, but its experienced managers should keep pace in the longer term. Developed equity markets lagged their emerging economy counterparts, and UK equities gained 1.66%. Lindsell Train UK Equity outperformed, returning 3.91%, a gain that made it the portfolio's top-performing holding during March. Investment in emerging markets was increased through the addition of the SPDR Barclays Emerging Markets Local Bond ETF, which provides exposure to the nascent recovery in emerging economy currencies. Elsewhere in the bond markets, falling volatility and increased risk appetite led to corporate bonds outperforming developed economy government bonds. Gilts fell marginally but sterling corporate bonds rose 3.08%. The WAY Global Cautious Portfolio gained 1.04%† in March while the sector rose 1.48%.
